the most uplifting and

hopeful song that has become a hit again from “Playlist of the Day” is “Thanks to” by Doris Payne. I had not heard it for many years and was delighted to see that it had reappeared on the SM radio station so that it can grace our playlists again. It’s really good music and I wish all the composers could be so lucky as to have such a great hit today.

prompted to choose the source, which can be a DVD drive, a DVD-ready project stored on the local disks or an ISO image that can be burned to a disc. I have managed to implement a resize animation based on the height of the content of the cell via `self.frame = CGRect(x: -55, y: 0, width: self.frame.size.width+55, height: self.contentView.frame.height)`; The problem is, this causes the cell to have a weird behavior: When I start resizing (i.e. dragging the left or right edge of the cell to resize it), the cell suddenly springs back to the exact size of the cell content (also when the content is not even being displayed). The following is my resize method: override func tableView(tableView: UITableView,
